ABOUT ME

I am a French video editor and junior motion designer with six years of experience in Paris and Manchester. I love to put images to life, to give them a sense, or sometimes not, and to deliver a message. I started with corporate video and moved to commercials and online contents. I am passionate about my job and take a real pleasure making customers happy and proud of their brand. Give me your rushes and I'll give you an edited, graded and mixed video. I also enjoy working with a full team of creative, director and producer to create together something that matter.
